Another message from the Chair!

Dear friends, Members of Fulwood Old chapel and Fulwood Community,

Greetings from the chair; the summer seems to have whizzed by and Autumn is upon us. Ever since being young until I retired I have always thought of this period as 'September reds'. It is a feeling of optimism, new beginnings, fresh starts, the beginning of a new year. This is because of school of course and then I became a teacher and September, the beginning of a new term, a new year, was forever linked to a newness, a feeling that anything is possible. Now it is not the beginning of a new school year for me but still when the children are back at school, it gives us pensioners an opportunity to travel and find space at the coast, or in the beauty spots, everywhere seems a little less hectic.

My husband gets the blues at this time of year when the darkness approaches and Winter is on the horizon. I love this season, however, especially abroad, as it is often still hot, the summer is being stretched and the light can be hauntingly beautiful. Here too, despite the nights drawing in, the days are still fairly mild and I love the changing colours.

This September my husband and I have welcomed a new member to our family, our first grandchild, Lara Evie. She was born last Sunday (12th) and I watched Ed's service via zoom on tenterhooks as I knew the birth was fairly imminent. At least it was a good distraction for me!

I want to thank everyone who took part and helped at the Fulwood fete last week, special thanks go to Susie who printed all the posters and organised everything and everyone. It all went splendidly, thank you also to the cake makers, there were lots and they were all delicious. We were very lucky with the weather and it was a great opportunity for the local community to see the chapel.

Numbers seem to be returning to chapel and it is lovely to hear the hymns, life seems almost normal again. It is great to have coffee and biscuits and chat as we used to. We are very fortunate in having a selection of lay preachers who are happy to take a regular service and who are all very good.

Best wishes,

Jane

Giving Thanks!

By Susie - The Editor!

For me Autumn is an exciting time of year. I love the turning trees - the wonderful red and browns against a crisp blue sky; the coziness of sitting by a warm fire as the temperature drops and the days grow shorter; the anticipation of Christmas coming and the excitement of being with my family once more.. I am lucky that I don't mind the nights closing in. It thrills me to look out knowing that I am warm and snug - it gives me a sense of security and an appreciation of just how lucky I am.

Life hasn't always been good. There was a time when I would dread bills falling on the mat, feeling dreadful that I was dishing up veg stew yet again spiced up with a rotating choice of jackets, yorkshires or dumplings! My comfort zone in those dark times was lying in bed secure in the knowledge that the postman couldn't possibly come before morning!

This was my turning point religion wise. From a dark and dismal place wondering why God had forsaken me I finally found Unitarianism and the freedom, not to simply rely on what I was told, but being able to think things out for myself. The warm hearted, caring people at Chapel didn't disapprove of me voicing my thoughts as I tried to work things out but rather encouraged me to come to my own conclusions. Maybe I had lost my cozy notion of God being my loving Father (who had at that time 'forsaken me'!) But by opening my eyes I could see that God, in nature, was everywhere. And - yes!! - I had a roof over my head, clothes to wear, happy children to love and I gave thanks - and life got better.

Autumn tends to be a time of reflection and remembering - we have the harvest celebrations and thanksgiving - without them, would we just take for granted that our shops will always be stock full of goodies?

We have Halloween and Guy Fawkes Night - the latter especially was very much a family affair when I was younger when all my Aunts, Uncles and cousins congregated around a big bonfire, munching toffee apples and parkin, cracking hot chestnuts while, all the time, oohing and aahing at the fireworks that my father would be lighting - a distant figure at the far end of the garden.

And then there's Remembrance Sunday -I still find this a very awkward time because I find it impossible to glorify all the lives that were wasted! Instead, I want to rant and rave at heads of states and their greed, the lessons still not learnt. But others, I know treasure this time and find it a wonderful time of compassion and I try so very hard to be like them.

This year, however, there is also the 20th anniversary of Sept 11 - a time that is very poignant for Rob and myself because for 6 awful hours we thought we might have lost little Lucy forever and I wonder, if we had, how I would now feel on Remembrance Sundays! But I do give thanks every day that she survived!

I thought I might share with you the correspondence we had from Lucy as she coped first hand with the awful horrors that took place that day...

11/09/01

by Susie Ince

11th September, twenty years ago, saw one of the most horrifying acts of terrorism the world has ever seen and our daughter was there! Fortunately she lived to tell the tale! I thought I would share with you her first hand account:

Lucy, who would be 19 that October, had been working over the summer at the Unitarian Summer Camp in the Adirondacks. Her boyfriend, Phil, had been working at another camp nearby. They were scheduled to fly back from New York to the UK on September 11.

My elder daughter, Pippa, lived in Newbury and I was driving there to stay with her until it was time to pick Lucy up from Heathrow. As I drove into Newbury there was a news flash on the radio. A plane had flown in to one of the World Trade Centre Towers. Five minutes earlier, Lucy had texted to say that she was about to go down into the WTC subway to go to the airport and would lose her phone signal so she would text me again once she had arrived.

I arrived at Pippa's just in time to see the second plane hit Tower 2.

We frantically tried to get hold of Lucy but we kept getting error messages.

Six agonising hours later we got this email

Am safe. Have a place to stay and food to eat. We are with one of Phil's friends. Keep seeing scenes of them (the towers) collapsing- wow. Just wanted to let you know that I am ok. Be in touch when can. Love u – Lu

This was then followed by the following emails:-

Can see the buildings (well one now) - amazed. We are about 10 blocks away from it. Amazing, the world trade buildings have been blown up. Lower Manhattan completely evacuated. No flights are going from NY at all. Will not be able to get my flight. All phone lines are down so cannot find out when I will be able to fly. All airports closed. No chance of getting out. All subways stopped. All American and Canadian airports are closed. No escape. Phone lines not working. Gob smacked. All trade will be affected...

... We have been watching the news and they said that the planes hit high up which was a minor miracle. If they had crashed at the bottom then the buildings would have collapsed over instead of down and we would probably have been caught. As it happened the floors just collapsed upon themselves. We were up the tower 2 days ago. 10 mins later today we would have been getting the train beneath the trade centre to go to the airport. Amazing how life works out. There is mass panic buying here. Surreal. Stuck in America! Hey! Got pictures of the buildings before they collapsed. ...

...Am quite scared as buildings keep collapsing and it feels like the card house effect. Plus it feels like they will attack any time. I just want to get out of here but am scared of the planes. Am probably being paranoid but you are literally looking at death in the eye.... There's people in the buildings burning. - they jump from the buildings as it is better then burning to death. But instead they jump to death! There is this one person who jumps but just keeps hitting the building as he falls....

....I wasn't affected at first but seeing the people jumping just jolted it all. A couple of hours later, several days earlier and that would have been me. Got pictures on top of the buildings and now the buildings have gone. And the fact buildings are still falling and that the attack may not be over.... Anyway this is probably scaring you so I will go. If you guys could ring or whatever that would be good - tried ringing you but it wont work.

...It seems like a dream. Going to wake up soon! I heard a low flying plane. Obviously it was crashing into the WTC. Can't believe we had just been up there. The flights that were hijacked were American Airlines- my airline! The worse thing is it happened at the start of the working day. All American trade has gone! There were schools nearby. The zone is at least 15 blocks. There's an inch of ash! Just amazing. The city is at a standstill. Even if there were flights we could not get there because the world trade centre is a major subway route. There's people walking about covered in ash ...another building has just collapsed! WTC no 7. They think it is due to the damage of the other 2 that it collapsed. Apparently there is a bunker there that was controversially built! Bummer...! .....There is no traffic below 14th street. We are just below 4th so I have no idea how I am going to get anywhere. Mum, we cant get out! They have told everyone to stay in otherwise the rescue mission will be hampered. Get me out Mum!

...Subways have just been reopened - limited though. NY is so quiet- virtually no cars, most shops closed, people taking their time- chilled and shocked. The smoke is bad- can see it in the air. More buildings near the WTC are on fire – problem! Have to wear masks cos it is so bad- look like aliens!

...Hope I can get out tomorrow - money is getting very low.

(Rob wired some money over enabling her to try and get a flight back)

...There are absolutely no flights leaving NYC. Only military planes can fly. Do not know when I will be home. S..t Mum - Stuck in America. Need to see you Need a hug - Loves you loads – Lucy

After many frantic phone calls between England, New York and to the airline, we managed to get Lucy a seat on two flights on 14th September, and another two the next day. Each one was aborted for various reasons before she even got to the airport! Phil, her boyfriend, was flying on a different airline and was more fortunate so they couldn't even remain together. Finally on the Sunday Lucy, herself, managed to get on a flight out to Dallas and she eventually landed at Gatwick Airport on 17th September.

Whenever, reports on the Trade Center appear on TV Lucy would quietly leave the room. All her photos were lost - accidentally or on purpose we will never know! Phil never got over the falling bodies and had a tough time coping!

Calling all Knitters and Crocheters

Great Hucklow Unitarian Chapel is planning to have a display of falling poppies for Armistice Day (Thursday 11th November) and is asking if people would join in the challenge by making crocheted or knitted poppies - red, white, pink, and purple; all would be gratefully received!

To help you get started here are a couple of patterns but there are plenty more online just search for 'knitted and crocheted poppies - free patterns'.

Please bring your poppies to Fulwood Old Chapel between 12 and 12.30pm any Sunday after the service. The deadline is Sunday 31st October.

The special unveiling of the poppy fall and wreath laying will take place on 11th November at Great Hucklow but the timing is still undecided. Please go to Great Hucklow Unitarian Chapel Facebook for more details or email Luke.Povey@gmail.com

How to Crochet a Poppy

Terms and Stitches: MR – Magic Ring Ch – Chain

Slst – Slip stitch Sc – Single crochet

Hdc – Half double crochet Dc – Double crochet

Suggested hook size: 2.75mm

Poppy Centre:

The centre of the flower is worked in joined rounds and then the petals are worked individually in turned rows (i.e. work petal one first, then work petal two, etc).

Start in black. Chains do not count as a stitch.

Rnd 1: Work 6 sc into a MR (6 sts), pull tight, join, ch 1

Rnd 2: Starting in the same st, (2 sc) in each st around (12 sts), join with red yarn, ch 2

Petals:

The rest of the pattern is worked in red yarn (feel free to cut your black yarn now). You will work the first petal by working in the next 3 sts only before turning and chaining.

Row 1: Starting in the same st, (2 dc) in each of the next 3 sts (6 sts), ch 2, turn

Row 2: (2 hdc) in each st across (12 sts), ch 1, turn

Row 3: Slst in each st across (12 sts), ch 1, work 3 slsts down the side of the petal.

Start the next petal by repeating Rows 1-3 of the petal in the next 3 sts and so on for the last 2 petals. At the end of the fourth petal, slst to the joining st of round 2 of the black centre. Tie off and weave in yarn tails.

Position the petals such that petals 1 and 3 are to the front, overlapping on top of petals 2 and 4 (i.e. opposite petals to the front).

How to Knit a Poppy

Using 4mm (UK8) knitting needles and double knitting wool cast on 80 sts.

Row 1 to row 8: knit every row.

Row 9: Knit 2 together (k2tog), repeat to end (40sts)

Row 10: K2 tog to end (20sts)

Row 11: K2 tog to end (10sts)

Cut yarn with a long end and thread a sewing needle.

Run yarn through remaining 10 sts .

Remove them off the needle. pull up tight, sew up side seam and fasten off.

Sew a black button to the centre or cut a circle of black felt and attach by sewing through the middle.

Dates for your diary:

Our Harvest service this year will be given by Arek Malecki.. The date: Sunday 17th October. Arek - being Arek, will have a new and fresh angle to the service which I am sure will be as interesting as entertaining. Following the service it is planned to have Harvest lunch so please pop your name on the list which will be on the chapel notice board if you intend to be there.

Arek will also be giving the Carol Service on Sunday 19th December. Please note that it will be held at 5pm. We are hoping to be able to hold it outside in the Chapel garden as we did last year but, unlike last year when we were beholden to Covid regs, we plan to hold it inside if the weather proves inclement. Please bring torches with you - just in case though so that you can read the carol sheets if outside.

Bets are now on as to whether Arek will appear as Santa's little Helper, one of his elves or come as a Christmas Tree - forsaking his blue hair for something greener perhaps with flashing lights atop?

As always the Remembrance Sunday service on Sunday 14th November will begin at 10.50 for the minute's silence to be held at 11. Anyone later than 10.55 either attending chapel or on zoom will not be let in until after this has finished. Ed (Fordham) will be giving the service with his usual heart felt touches that he provides so well which on this, to him, is such very special day.

The Soldier

If I should die, think only this of me:
That there's some corner of a foreign field
That is for ever England. There shall be
In that rich earth a richer dust concealed;
A dust whom England bore, shaped, made aware,
Gave, once her flowers to love, her ways to roam,
A body of England's, breathing English air,
Washed by the rivers, blest by suns of home.

And think, this heart, all evil shed away,
A pulse in the eternal mind, no less
Gives somewhere back the thoughts by England given;
Her sights and sounds; dreams happy as her day;
And laughter, learnt of friends; and gentleness,
In hearts at peace, under an English heaven.

Rupert Brooke 1915.

Rupert Brooke was born in 1887 and went to Rugby school, where his father was a housemaster, followed by King's College, Cambridge, where he read Classics. The friendships he made there included George Mallory and the Bloomsbury group (Virginia Woolf, Vita Sackville-West, Lytton Stacey). Following a breakdown, he toured USA and Canada and came home via the Pacific, staying some months in the South Seas.

He enlisted in August 1914 and joined the Royal Navy Volunteer Reserve. 'The Soldier' was published the following year and was read aloud in St Paul's Cathedral. He died in 1915 of an infected mosquito bite and was buried in an olive grove on the Greek island of Skyros. In 1985, he was among the 16 First World War poets commemorated in St Paul's Corner, Westminster Abbey.

One of his most famous poems was The Soldier written in 1915 it reflects British sorrow over and pride in the young men who died in World War I. Narrated in the first person by an English soldier, the poem is sentimental, patriotic, and epitaphic. In the closing verse the poem's speaker suggests that his soul is eternally linked with England. The poem's familiar opening lines acquired even greater poignancy as a result of Brooke's own wartime death.

When Autumn Days are here

I count my blessings one by one
Whate'er the time of year,
And yet it seems I count them more
When Autumn days are here.
The nearby fields of ripened grain,
The harvest gathered in;
Rich bounty from the hand of God
To bless our land again.
I lift my eyes to Autumn hills
Of flaming red and gold;
A picture only God could paint,
So splendorous to behold.
The gentle hush upon the land,
Wild geese in southward flight,
The harvest moon hanging low,
A giant lantern bright.
I count my blessings one by one -
I'm thankful for them all -
And still it seems I count them more
When comes the season Fall.

Fulwood Fete

Sunday 5th September

The first ever Fulwood fete was a huge success. Despite covid set backs, it finally went ahead the first Sunday in September and to prove to everyone how righteous and hardworking the Fete Committee had been, the sun came out to make it what was to be an absolutely glorious day!

It was held on the green opposite Fulwood Old Chapel and in the Chapel itself with the road closed in between to make way for more stalls.

£400 was donated to each the three nominated charities: Sheffield Young Carers, Friends of the Porter Valley, Friends of Redmires Woods

Missed it? Not to worry - next year's Fete is being planned for Sunday 12th June. Pop it in your diary! For more information join the Fulwood Fete Facebook page or email: fulwoodfete@gmail.com

Welcoming Ceremonies

We would like to welcome

Juniper Charlotte Jameson

who was blessed at FulwoodOld Chapel on 6th June and

Nell Ada Grace Salvin

who was blessed at FulwoodOld Chapel on 29th August

Both services were conducted by Peter Rowson

Wouldn't it be good
if we could live happily together
despite all our differences?
This is our aim because

We are Unitarians

By Listening we learn.

By Reasoning we Understand.

By being Tolerant,
we get to know each other

We believe that religion is wider than any one sect and deeper than any one set of opinions and that everyone has the right to search for the meaning in life in their own way.

With no conformity of belief or set creed, we gain inspiration from all the great thinkers and teachers of the world -ancient and modern, religious and secular - while respecting the fact that we are all on our own personal journey.

Very Moist and Yummy Orange Cake

Tested at the Chapel picnic and shared by out chair - Jane (Moore!)

Ingredients

2 medium oranges, fresh whole with rind on -8cm/3" diameter any type each weighing 300g/10 oz or (600g/1.4 lb total weight,

6 g baking powder

6 large eggs , at room temp

250 g white sugar

250 g ground almonds

Method:

Boil oranges whole, skin and all 40 minutes without draining, keeping an eye on water level.

Chop: Rinse oranges, then cool slightly so you can handle them. Slice into 1cm / 1/4" slices then dice, removing any seeds. Cool completely.

Batter:

Preheat oven: Preheat oven to 160°C/320°F (140°C fan). Grease and line a 23cm/9" cake pan with baking/parchment paper.

Blitz oranges: Place chopped oranges in a food processor . Blitz on high for 4 x 10 second bursts, scraping down the sides in between, until it's pureed into a marmalade consistency with only a few visible bits of rind remaining. It does not need to be completely smooth.

Blitz in remaining ingredients: Add grown almonds, eggs, baking powder and sugar. Blitz for 5 - 10 seconds on high until combined.

Pour into prepared cake pans. Bake 60 minutes until the surface is golden and a toothpick inserted into the centre comes out clean.

Cool fully in cake pan. Unless using loose base pan, cover surface with baking paper to help you turn it out (cake is sticky so may stick to your hand and tear surface otherwise.)

News of Friends

90 Years Young and going strong!

During Covid we have missed a lot of birthdays but two that we should mark are the birthdays of Sheila (Ellis) and Margaret (Sanderson) who have both celebrated amazingly their 90th birthdays this year. I say amazingly because neither looks any where near 90!! Margaret moved away from Sheffield a few years ago to be with her daughter and family in Beckingham near Gainsborough but now keeps in regular touch via our zoom 'let's chat' mornings and attends our zoom services. Both Margaret and Sheila have been pals for years and it was nice that Sheila's daughter Anne, took her to have lunch with Margaret on Sheila's birthday at a garden centre near where Margaret lives. Belated congratulations to you both!
